

Mrs. Stephanie Palmisano is our Daily Building Substitute. She has been in the OLM community for over 25 years. She attended OLM as a child, returned as a student teacher during college and then as a substitute teacher after receiving her degree. Mrs. Palmisano has a bachelor's degree in Elementary Education from UOP. She enjoys spending all of her free time with her husband, daughter and friends.

Dr. Deborah Husak joins the middle school team as the science teacher. She earned her undergraduate degree in Biology at Michigan State University and her Medical Doctorate at Wayne State University. After completing her residency in family practice she served for four years as a medical officer in the U.S. Coast Guard where she met her husband, a career officer. After leaving the Coast Guard, Dr. Husak began volunteering and substitute teaching in every school her two children attended and discovered that she sincerely enjoyed and had a talent for teaching. When her husband was assigned to Rhode Island in 2007, they decided to stay and Dr. Husak was able to pursue her love of teaching by attending the University of Rhode Island where she completed her Masters in Secondary Science Education. Dr. Husak sings in her church choir and enjoys reading, hiking and having fun with her family.

Mrs. Deborah Carraccio is a new addition to the Pre-K. team. Prior to arriving at OLM she was a Pré-K. and 1st grade volunteer at Fr. John V. Doyle School where it turned into a full time position. She worked at Fr. John V. Doyle School for seven years as a teacher's assistant throughout the school. Mrs. Carraccio was previously an International Flight Attendant for many years. She lives on a small farm with her two children, husband and many animal family members.
